UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING
(January - June, 1967)

EXHIBIT "13-1"

Crime in the United States as measured by the Crime Index rose 17 percent during the first six months of 1967 over the same period in 1966. The violent crimes as a group increased 18 percent with robbery up 30 percent, murder 20 percent, aggravated assault 11 percent and forcible rape 7 percent. The voluminous property crimes rose 17 percent as a group. Auto theft registered a 19 percent rise, burglary 18 percent and larceny $50 and over 16 percent. All cities when grouped according to population had crime increases ranging from an average of 7 percent in cities with over one million population to 23 percent in cities having a population of 750,000 to one million. The suburban areas reported an increase of 18 percent and the rural areas were up 15 percent. Geographically, the upward crime trend was consistent throughout the country. Crime in the North Central States rose 20 percent, 18 percent in the Northeastern States and 16 percent in the Southern and Western States. Murder registered the highest percentage increase in the North Central States while in the Southern, Western and Northeastern States the crime of robbery showed the sharpest increase.
